Dear Rabbi Hier,

I thank you or your associate for the very useful clippings. They lent themselves admirably to a simple insertion ^{in what} I had ~~it~~ already written.

Before the mail came I had completed the rough draft.

When I put all I had together the possible suspicion that Posner used his client(s) as a means to his Menegol book and that once he had those 25,000 documents and had been able to ^{do} the necessary travelling he had no more need of them. was justified

This suspicion comes from my personal dealings with him and from what he has written and said of which I sent you some copies.

If you can tell me how to reach either of the Menegole victims identified in the page of his book I sent you or their organization I would like to write them and ask if they financed his inquiry or helped him obtain that large volume of records and are satisfied with ^{the} reason he gave for abandoning the effort.

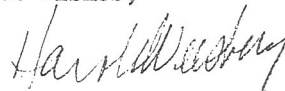

If you were able to be aware as I am of the permeating dishonesty of his Case Closed I think you could understand why I am inclined to question everything he says and does.

This man of well-practised evil is on his way to becoming an ersatz national hero.

Again thanks. I hope if you think of any other way of helping you'll feel free to do that.

Unless you would prefer otherwise I'll not credit you with these clippings. If you prefer otherwise I'll gladly extend the credit.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
